1) The minutes of the previous meeting which were held on 22/10/2024 was read and approved. The members present for the meeting.

2) The Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 (SOX) was passed to increase corporate transparency and accountability. It required companies to disclose more information about their financial practices and internal controls. This led to a significant increase in the cost of capital for companies, as investors demanded higher returns to compensate for the increased risk. The act also led to a significant increase in the cost of doing business for companies, as they had to invest in new systems and processes to comply with the requirements.
